Store Opens 8:30 A. M.

BOY SCOUTS

sidewalks offered many good turns.

By J. W. PATTON

Realise that the boys are in the ent of their own free will and that per will remain just as long as the programs are interesting and varied.

nemember that a troop seldom breaks these days, and seldom, indeed, sugh any fault of the boys themselves. te the boys know that you believe in sem and that they can be among "the but in the city." Let the boys get the eviction that you are doing what they numselves elect to do, rather than what want them to do. Put the programs p to the boys in advance so that they an see the fun they can have in following them out and how far they can "get shead" in scouting by "sticking" to the pegram.

Do not use scouting as an opportunity to industing in your own fads. Your subbies may come in finely in a case of or break in some meeting, just it is a fine thing to have a bugle and from corps, or scout band to save the lay should things go wrong. He puncpal and insist on punctuality. Have a time set for the meeting and start on the s. When the troop goes on a like, sart on the minute, leaving a patrol more behind to pick up the stragglers, ho, while not missing the outing energy, should be docked points, say one grely, should be docked points, say one for each five minues late.

In order to give publicity to all that each boy does in the troop, and particularly to let others know where he has been negligent. A large new chart has been gotten out under the auspices of hasdquarters, modeled somewhat after the English scout chart of Baden-Powell. It is designed to hang in the troop meeting room with glass covering. A boy's progress from tenderfoot to eagle scout is recorded, as well as his patrol and patrol rank. The great advantage of the chart has in the opportunity to mark spicilly. he in the opportunity to mark plainly the record of any delinquencies so that all will know what has been going on; and if there is one thing a boy dislikes pore than another, when he has been misbehaving, it is to have the fact

Indian Hunt for February 22

An Indian hunt, similar to the famous treasure hunt" along the Wissahickon ast Washington's Birthday, will be held February 22 and all the troops in the city will participate, it was announced at the broomssters' Round Table, last night. Details have not been worked out. George O. Potts, assistant scoutmaster of Troop 26, gave a chalk talk on mapmaking and field notes for the benefit of the testimasters; who, under the new plan. We be enabled to give expert instruction to their troops. Firemaking and cooking will be enabled to give expert instruction is their troops. Firemaking and cooking sill be explained by T. L. Tierney at the MRI Round Table, and the following two meetings will be devoted to scoutcraft

Local Council for Frankford

The first step toward the redistricting f the city will be taken tomorrow night, then a meeting will be held in the Music displayed some distance he pointed the final fall, Longshore street, Frankford, to de israins on the formation of a local scout sencil for that section. The meeting was called by Scoutmaster John Taylor, of Troop 24. If the experiment is successful, local councils will, in all probability, be formed in various sections of William Uram, of Troop 25, sprinkled

Troop 21 Holds Banquet

Forty members of Troop 21 gathered around the banquet table in the Young Men's Christian Association Cafeteria. Saturday evening, to celebrate the win-Saturday evening, to celebrate the win-ning of the musical trophy. Deputy Scout Commissioner Patton, who founded the troop, acted as toastmaster. The Rev. W. B. Greene, pastor of the 2d Presby-terian Church, Elet and Walnut streets, asked the blessing. Scoutmasters Fried-man, Roiston, Mills, Dayton and Under-wood and Assistant Scoutmaster Harry Ernest were among the speakers. At the conclusion of the banquet the troop band, led by "Joe" Wandsleben, rendered a musical program.

Troop 80 took part in the procession at the evening services at St. Timothy's Frotestant Episcopal Church, Ridge avenue above North Walnut lane, Roxborough, on Sunday, when all the guilds marched into the church with their banners. The Scouts, under Scoutmaster Dayton, formed at the Parish House. All were in uniform except those who sang in the choir.

Lebanon Troop Aids Richmond Boys John Murphy, boys' secretary of the Lebanon, Pa., Young Men's Christian As-sociation and formerly scoutmaster of Philadelphia Troop 7; Wilbur N. Sarvant, scoutmaster of Lebanon Troop 3, and Scouts Edward Strickler and Joseph Boltz, of the same troop, visited Richland, Pa. Tuesday evening to assist in the former of the same troop, visited Richland, Pa. Tuesday evening to assist in the formation of a Boy Scout troop at that place. The two Scouts gave demonstrations of bugling, signaling and knot-tying to the audience of 109 persons. Troop 3 inspected the Good Samaritan Hospital at Lehanon Wednesday evening on the invitation of Miss McMaster, superintendent. Doctor Kerr and Doctor Pretz showed the Scouts the workings of the pulmotor, the microscope and X-ray slides.

Troop 22 Marks Anniversary

Kindness and helpfulness to others as he keynote of a successful life was the the keynote of a successful life was the text of an address by the Rev. Dr. Floyd W. Tomkins, rector of Holy Trinity Protestant Episcopal Church, at the 2d anniversary celebration of Troop 22, 20th street below Walnut street, Thursday evening. The Rev. Dr. Tomkins urged the parents who attended to encourage the Scout movement.

Every member of the troop, most of the parents and many friends were present.

Every member of the troop, most of the parents and many friends were present when the meeting was called to order by Scoutmaster Merrill. Doctor Tomkins entered into the spirit of the celebration and played the plano for the singing of "America." Roy Phillipy, Blazing Arrow patrol leader, followed on the mandolin, and Ralph Lichtenstein and Mr. Morgan on the violin. "Noted Members of the Troop," an amusing address by Gilbert August, Tiger Patrol leader, contained a "slam" for every member. Deputy Scout Commissioner Patton and Scoutmaster Brown made short addresses. After refreshments the celebration ended After refreshments the celebration ended with signaling, leg-throwing and other scoutcraft demonstrations.

DAILY "GOOD TURNS"

Nearly every evening a blind man and his wife, who sell papers near 12th and Markot streets, are guided across the street by Jacob Task, 12 years old, of 457 North 4th street a member of Troop 8. He sells papers near the same corner, but is never too busy to help them. He often buys their papers for them. buys their papers for them.

Jacob's brother Norman, who belongs to the same troop, helped a man from 11th and South streets to 4th and Noble streets on the slippery sidewalks Sun-day. The journey, about 18 squares, took an hour and a haif.

David Dwartz, 13 years old, of 335 North Franklin street, stopped a runaway horse near his home Friday. The horse, at-tached to a wagon was frightened by passing fire engines and started to run away. Dwartz jumped into the street and grabbed the reins; after he was dragged some distance he pulled the horse to a standstill. His friends say he ashes around part of the block at 2d and Montrose streets Sunday night to pre-vent people from slipping and falling down

Headquarters announces an Indian hunt for February 22.

Troop 64 Plans Hike

Troop 64, 55th and Pine streets, which took the longest hike of the year in 1914, is making arrangements to eclipse its record with a "marathon" hike this year. The party, which went to Atlantic City by way of the White Horse pike, a distance of 70 miles, was composed of Willam S. Rosenbaum, scoutmaster; Lawrence Sacks, assistant scoutmaster, and Scouts Samuel Brenner, Joseph Stone, S. Scouts Samuel Brenner, Joseph Stone, S. Sundhéim, M. Pintoff, A. Josephs, M. Harrison, E. Moyed, Hyman Rich, David Pelkin, Joseph Brooks, Emanuel Brooks, M. Diamond and Howard Sacks, They left Saturday afternoon, August 1, with nine tents and "grub" loaded on two small "express" wagons. In Camden one of the wagons broke down and scarcely were they out of the city when the other of the wagons broke down and scarcely were they out of the city when the other followed suit. After purchasing two stronger wagons the party camped at Magnolia, N. J., the first night. On the march, the next morning, Dr. George Rosenbaum, the troop physician, overtook the hikers in an automobile to look after their health. While passing through Berlin, N. J., a wagon wheel broke and it was difficult to get another because the only blacksmith shop was closed. A real Jersey storm broke upon the camp that night in a field near Hammonton, and the campers, drenched to the skin, and the campers, drenched to the skin and the campers, arenched to the skin, slept on a porch in the town. The next morning the roads were in bad condition, which made marching slow; food ran low, too, a third of a can of raw corn and some preserves per man being the breakfast menu. After "filling up" at a store on the road, they ate dinner in Egg Harbor City. Near Abscept the troop. Marbor City. Near Absecon the troop was halted by a woman, who asked whether the Philadelphia troop was hiking to the sea; she invited them to stay all night at her house, which the scouts were glad to do on account of the mos-quitoes. The hikers arrived at Atlantic City at 10 o'clock Monday morning and were met by Scoutmaster Knight and Assistant Scoutmaster Fyle, of Atlantic City, now scout commissioner and deputy commissioner, respectively. The troop camped near Chelsea, returning to Phila-delphia the following Sunday.

Troop 46 Is Learning Mining

L. J. Hickman, 5214 Haverford street, a mining engineer, is delivering a course of lectures on mines to the members of Troop 46, Temple Lutheran Church, 52d and Race streets. The lectures, eight in number, are given every two weeks, to prepare the scouts for the mining merit badge test. Mr. Hickman has visited all the important mines in the country.

The latest addition to the Boy Scout Library at headquarters, 5th and Chest-nut streets, is the Harper Library for Boys, consisting of books on gardening, machinery, electricity, camping, scouting and other subjects, Scoutmaster Samuel G. Friedman, of passing fire engines and started to run away. Dwartz jumped into the street and grabbed the reins; after he was dragged some distance he pulled the horse to a standatill. His friends say he "knows all about horses" although he is a little chap. Dwartz was a member of Troop 82 before it disbanded and its about to join Troop 12.

William Uram, of Troop 95, sprinkled

Scoutmaster Samuel G. Friedman, of away proposed three scouts to instruct the troop in physical development. They are Michael Coplan, of Division A, for Division A, Samuel Schultz, for Division B, and Louis Moss, of Division A, for Division C. The three scouts will have passed one of the requirements for the physical development merit badge when they have instructed the other scouts for three months.

LABOR CHIEFS HERE CONDEMN DECISION OF SUPREME COURT

'Infamous!" Say Leaders of Decree Which Gives Employers Right to Oust Union Workmen.

The decision of the Supreme Court givbe employers the right to demand that hir amployes renounce their affiliation with a labor union is the greatest blow that has ever been struck at organized

This was the comment of Harry Parker, s veteran trade unionist and member of De Labor Forward Committee of the Cenbal Labor Union, today. Similar commint was made by other prominent trade inionists here. "I am shocked and stupefied at the decision handed down by the Supreme Court," said Parker. "The court has shown once more, as it did in the Moyer-Taywood-Pettibone case, the Bucks Stove and Range Company case, the Danbury litters case and other decisions, that it distinctly aristocratic and plutocratic is its aympathies; that it does not wish a understand the struggles of the work-two to better their lives and improve the said in the struggles and living conditions and that the struggles have nothing to expect from it. This decision is going to be of farmening consequence in helping organised spital as well as individual employers of astroy the labor movement. It means it workers are not even secure in what have already achieved and acquired lineagh long years of struggle and self-strikes.

By this decision an employee the secure in the struggle and self-strikes. steleion handed down by the Supreme

By this decision an employer can com-an employe to have his union and tear his union card. The court says the figers still reserve the right to leave if jobs if the employer makes such a unid, which means they are free to fire. How can a workingman leave his when he knows that jobs are scarce, in even in the best of times there are duants of workings out of amployment. en even in the best of times there are en even in the best of times there are must also and take any situation and take any attait is left open under any conditions at the simployer may offer.

By organizing into labor unions and greiting others to organize with them likers are able to determine, to a corit extent, under what conditions they cision, a decision which will only be re-versed when the workers learn the value of political pegyer; when they organize on the political field and put such in-terpreters of the Constitutional rights of the workers of the United States out of

Parker did not spend all his anger upon the Supreme Court. He reserved some of it for the present leaders of the labor movement.

"The Supreme Court would never dare to hand down such decisions," said Parker, "If the labor movement was not as conservative and jelly-fish like as it is, if Mr. Gompers and his crowd had more backbone and would quit making the labor movement the tail of the Democratic party. Mr. Gompers during his entire career in the labor movement had always preached 'no politics in the union', whilst he was dickering with the political servants of the employing class, trying to get from them alms for the labor movement.

"What will Mr. Gompers say now? What excuse can he offer now to the workers of the labor movement for a policy which is nothing short of treason to the labor movement? Unless the to the labor movement? Unless the workers wake up and use their political power in their own interest the labor movement will go to smash.

BLOW TO UNION LABOR. George H. Ulrich, president of the Central Labor Union, said the decision virtually meant the taking away of the right of the workers to organize.

"This decision," said Ulrich, "means I can no longer go into a shop and reason with my fallow worker and explain to him the advantages of organization. Be-cause the minute I do that the employer has a right to discharge me and leave me in the lurch. I think it is an infa-mous peace of work, a decision which speaks louder than anything I might say f the utter disregard of the interests of the workers by the Supreme Court of the United States.

the United States.

"It is all right to say a worker can refuse to work for an employer who is opposed to trade unions. But we are dealing with conditions and not theories. The worker cannot afford, as an individual, to refuse to work when such a refusal means starvation for himself and his family."

fusal means starvation for himself and his family."

J. Mahlon Barnes, a veteran member of the Cigar Makers' Union and delegate to the convention of the American Federation of Labor, said:

"The decision of the Supreme Court will be very gratifying to the Steel Trust, the coal barons of Colorado, the copper magnates of Michigan and every other unscrupulous and selfash employer of labor. By this decision labor is deprived of all liberty to organize and conduct its battles for a better, cleansr, finer life.

"The Supreme Court has again shown itself in its true colors.

itself in its true colors.
"Labor is not going to stop organizing. "Labor is not going to stop organising. We are going to keep up our great movement. We are going to keep up our great movement. We are going to keep up our great movement. We are going to keep up our great movement. We are going to keep up our great movement. We are going to compel the Supreme and we are going to compel the Supreme Court of the United States, by the force of organisation and public opinion, to reverse its decision and stand on the side of content in the decision is a challence and the court of the united states and liberty instead of an the side of economic elavery force. This decision is a challence in the court of the united states and liberty instead of an the side of economic elavery force. This decision is a challence in the court of the united states and liberty instead of an the side of economic elavery force. This decision is a challence in the court of the united states and liberty instead of an the side of economic elavery force. This decision is a challence in the court of the united states, by the force of organisation and public opinion, to reverse its decision and public opinion, to reverse its decision is a challence and liberty instead of an the side of economic leavery force.

We are going to keep up our great movement. We are going to keep up our great movement. We are going to keep up our great movement.

SUFFRAGIST SEES VICTORY SOON IN THE WHOLE U.S.

Mrs. Beatrice Forbes-Robertson Hale Comes Here From Visit to Coke Regions of State.

With praise for the Pennsylvania State Suffrage organization, Mrs. Beatrice Forbes-Robertson Hale, the suffrage organizer, who has just finished a tour of towns in the coke region of this State, this morning predicted that suffrage would be countrywide within a very few years. Mrs. Hale was the guest today of Dr. Eleanor C. Jones, 1531 North 15th street.

"I have just concluded my tour through Western Pennsylvania," Mrs. Hale said. "and I am very much impressed with the change in public opinion on the question of suffrage. I confidently believe this change has spread all over the country.

"I feel very hopeful of Massachusetts Pennsylvania, New Jersey and New York, where the question is to go to vote," she said. "I think we eventually shall win. If we are not victorious at the first vote, we will then poll a good minority and that will help us over the bar at the next election. I think the bar at the next election. I think the spread of the movement from Wyoming, the central State of the group of Western States that have suffrage, is the best proof that a pleased customer is the best advertisement "As to the national situation," she con-

"As to the national situation," she continued, "I think we shall not succeed in getting the Federal amendment from Congress at once, but I firmly believe it will pass after about half of the States have adopted the principle. In this connection, I think it very unfortunate that Mr. Samms, one of the speakers at the meeting last nisht, should have used the expression that suffrage here will assume the proportions of a "sex light," for the expression is unfitting.

"There is no hatred in this country between men and women as to the question of suffrage," Mrs. Hale declared. "The mind of the American woman does not provoke hatred. I think the respect and attention accorded the women in the first Philadelphia parade by the men was wonderful. It was such a contrast to the manner of the English men. But militarism really does not express the actual attitude of the English woman. It comes from the minds of only two persons, Mrs. Pankhurst and Christobal, her daughter. There will be none of it after the war. "I wish to say that the central tate organization of the suffrage party in Pennsylvania, and its head. Mrs. Roessing, are as fine as any I have found," she concluded.

WANAMAKER'S

Store Closes 5:30 P. M.

"No Other Store Can Sell Enough To Make It Pay the Manufacturers to Make Furniture So Well and Price It So Low"

The man who said this to us the other day knows what's what in furniture. Still, we said, "is that a fact, or just your opinion?" "Call it what you like," he answered, "it is what the furniture trade knows and what I myself, from actual, firsthand acquaintance with conditions, know to be true."

But where was the use of wasting words-the proof was all around us in the stocks gathered for

The February Furniture Sale The World's Greatest Furniture Sale By Every Test of Service

It happened that we were in the section of enameled bedroom furniture, of which the assortment is probably greater than that of any three ordinary large furniture stores combined. But these are only the floor samples. Back of them are warehouse reserves such as no furniture store ever held.

This furniture store of several acres is only large enough to show samples. How could we show that are now being held for us by one maker alone?

The Thousand Bureaus

Bring your common sense to bear upon the question of what groups of this kind mean to people with good money to invest in the things that go to make a worthwhile home!

Don't you think there is bound to be economy, good and real, in this group? Doesn't it seem reasonable to say that the quantity purchased compensates the maker for letting go some of his usual profit?

There is the most delightful lot of Jacobean oak dining room furniture here that we have ever had, but all of it being at halved prices we can't say much about it. because large as the assortment is, it is bound to go out quickly.

Three days of inspection—Thursday, Friday and Saturday, January 28, 29 and 30.

JOHN WANAMAKER